

Professional Services

Post GFC the accounting industry has enjoyed continual, robust revenue growth. The consistent demand for accounting services due to increasingly complicated regulation and key changes in legislation has helped contribute to this. Whilst there is growth, Macpherson Kelley understands the accounting industry is facing a rapidly changing landscape.

Some large accounting firms are moving back into the legal space, while others are re-entering the SME market often via a separate private client firm. Outsourcing has also become more common over the last few years; facilitated and accelerated by changes in technology.

The outsourcing of lower level, high volume work has brought about changes in the consulting versus compliance mix of accounting practices which, in turn, has created some uncertainty for accounting graduates and inevitably impacted organic growth within accounting firms.

Macpherson Kelley's dedicated and passionate Accountants industry group are here to help your clients and your firm address these issues.
